Paulo Murga, aka Atacama Sound System, is a musician, dj, producer and composer that blends Andean Sounds with Urban beats, Electronic music and Jazz. He was born in Antofagasta, Chile, in 1974.

At the age of 12 he learned his first chords on the Charango, a small string instrument that was forbidden to play due to the political situation in Chile. Pinochet didn't like folk music. In 1988 he moved to Sweden with his mother and sister and at the age of 14 he discovered electronic music, when a friend gave him a mixtape with the music of Jean Michael Jarre, Vangelis, Tangerine Dream and Isao Tomita.

In 1989 he got introduced to the art of Djing and sampling and when he turned 18 years old, he went to study sound recording and at the same time he discovered Latin Jazz.

His passion for Cuban music and Latin Jazz made him take the decision to get rid of his Synthesizers and buy a ticket to Habana so that he could study percussion at ISA (Instituto Superior de Artes)

In 2000 he completed his studies at Luleås Tekniska Universitet, Sweden, and started to work as a freelance musician.

He has played with Norrbottens Big Band, Tim Hagans, Blacknuss, Magnum Coltrane Price and participated in recording sessions with Sofia Janok, Nils Landgren's Funk Unit, Pato Pooh, Stor and the Sallazar brothers (Well know Swedish producers) to name a few.

Music for fans of Electronic, Urban, Reggaeton, Worldmusic, and Latin Jazz.
